

Riley and Friends

Little Pattern Adventures

Look, Continue & Create Together

RetroXLabs BOOKS

WELCOME

A little group, again and again

Riley is making a garden play space for her friends. Join her as she discovers shapes that repeat!

Read one story together. Try its picture activity. Then color and create your own design.

You need: printed pages and crayons or pencils.

Print at actual size on US Letter paper. Single-sided pages are easiest to use.

Pointing and talking count as playing. Drawing can come later.

Chapters 7–9 are optional challenges. Skip ahead whenever you like.

Some pages use color, but shape and order give the clues.

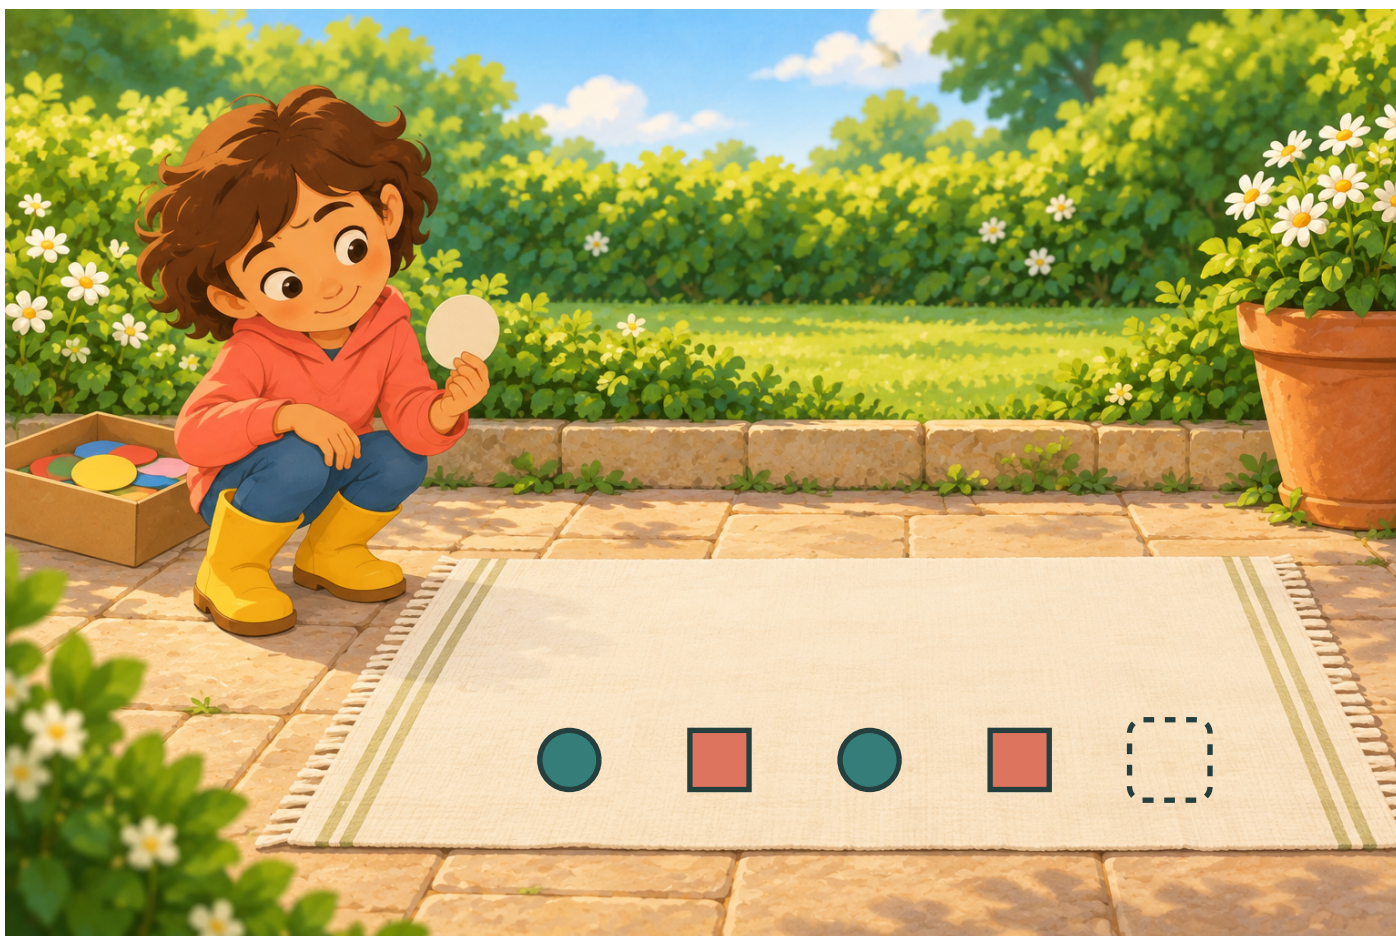

For your grown-up

Say the repeating group aloud. Give time to look. If a pattern is tricky, cover the extra shapes and start with one group.

Text by Mira. Published by RetroXLabs BOOKS. Illustrations created with AI assistance and editorial review.

What Comes Next?

Riley looked at the paper path. Circle, square, circle, square. One space was empty. “Oh! What comes next?” she asked.

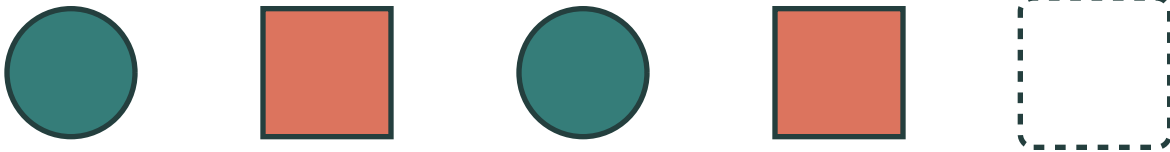

Look together:

Turn the page and join Riley's pattern play.

What Comes Next?

Point to the shape that comes next. Draw it in the empty space.

Which shape fits?

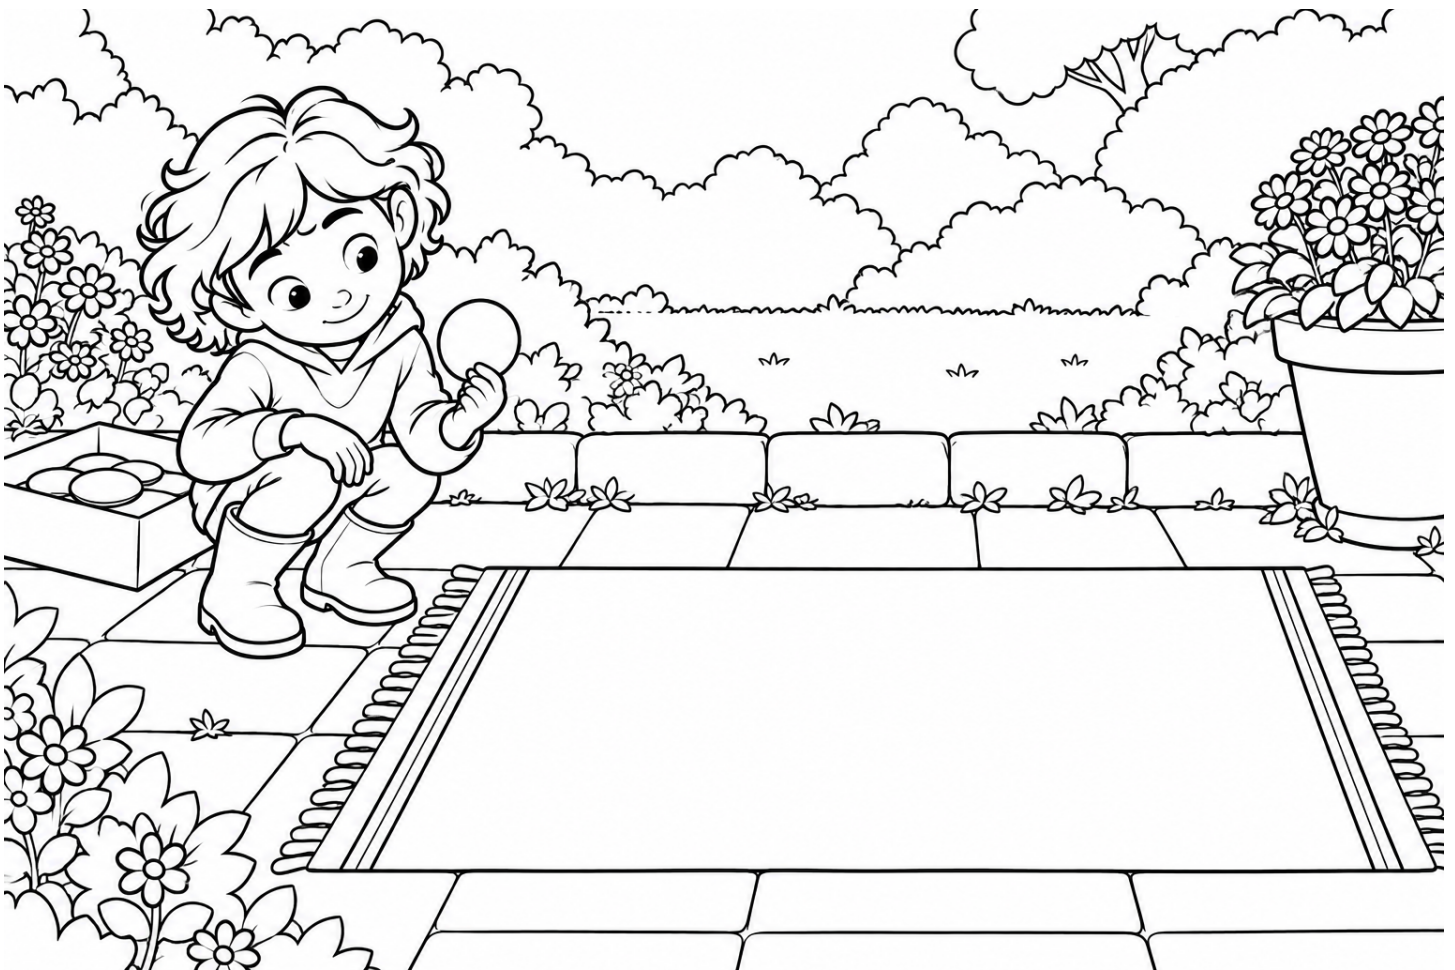

WITH A GROWN-UP

Say the shapes together. Which little group keeps coming back?

Make this scene yours

Color Riley's garden. Add your own paper shapes to the mat.

Trace the shapes. Say: circle, square. Then color them.

Look. Repeat. Make it yours.

A paper path. A string of flags. A welcome rhythm. Riley's garden adventure begins with a little group — and grows when you join in.

By Mira • RetroXLabs BOOKS